Fr. John Paul's Spiritual Brew

To love God with our whole heart, mind, and soul... And, to love our neighbor, as we love ourself”
What a task to do this... and what an encounter to experience how this feels.

To love God with our whole being means to let go of whatever is not necessary for living an authentic life. God is the source and end of everything... so, to love God with all our heart, mind, and strength... is to receive all that we need, and more, for living in, and beyond this world.

In today's Gospel the scribe asks Jesus "which is the greatest of all the sacred laws? And, Jesus responds with 'love the Lord your God above all, and with every fiber of your being' The scribe recognizes this to be true, and somehow picks up on Jesus's conviction, and embodiment of this law in responding. It is because of this encounter of Jesus's "enfleshing" of this law... "that no one has the courage to ask him anymore questions!

In some ways I wonder, if the scribe was questioning Jesus's authority, or really seeking to know the truth? Regardless, he got the truth! In both a spoken word, and a lived encounter. When we allow ourselves to simply "take a deep breath" and to receive into our being... "the Spirit of the Living God" we discover the power of God's renewing love. This love helps us to 'reset' our worries and priorities, and to increase our faith and love. As we move into this election Tuesday - may we be guided - by the Spirit of Truth, and the Love of God!

Amen. Alleluia

About Newman

The Newman Club was established on the campus of the University of Arizona in 1926. We are nearing a century of faith sharing and development among Catholic Wildcats. Our Patron, St. Thomas More, and St. John Henry Newman were both committed to making sure that universities & intellectual study included a wholistic approach to human development that included the spiritual life. We are proud to continue their legacy.

What do my contributions cover?

- Weekly Newman Nights for Undergrads hosted by the Student Ministry Committees.
- Small faith sharing & bible study groups that meet weekly.
- Retreats for students & Sacramental Prep.
- Graduate Students and Young Adults.
- Utilities and Ongoing Maintenance of our aging building, Masses and all of our programs
